HISTORICAL SUMMARY.

Origin of the College.

THE early history of the ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND is the history of two Companies, which, existing at first as separate fraternities or guilds, were for a time united into one body corporate, and finally became resolved again into two distinct Corporations. One of these, the Barbers' Company of London, is first definitely mentioned, in the records preserved at the Guildhall, in the year 1308, when Richard le Barber was presented and sworn before the Court of Aldermen as Master and Supervisor of the Barbers' Guild; and from an Ordinance of the City made in the previous year it is evident that the Barbers of London were at that time engaged in the practice of at least some branches of Surgery. The other Company, known as the Fellowship or Guild of Surgeons, is mentioned in the City records in the year 1369, when two Masters were sworn before the Court of Aldermen and given power to report the faults of unskilful Surgeons.

The Barbers' Company first mentioned in 1308.

The Surgeons' Guild mentioned in 1369.

Rivalry between the two Companies.

Between these two bodies there was for many years a keen rivalry and jealousy. Each tried by turns to attain supremacy of authority and jurisdiction in matters relating to the practice of Surgery. In the year 1376 the Barbers made a complaint to the Mayor and Aldermen against unskilled practitioners in Surgery, and obtained an Ordinance providing that two Masters should be appointed annually to direct and rule the Craft, to inspect instruments, and to see that none should be admitted to the franchise of the City except after attestation of their skill by good examination. Fourteen years later, however, four Masters of the Surgeons' Guild were sworn before the Court of Aldermen, and they were invested with the power of scrutiny among persons practising Surgery and with authority to present defaults. But in the year 1410 the Barbers obtained from the Court of Aldermen confirmation of the privileges granted to them in 1376 with the addition that they should be enjoyed "without the scrutiny of any person or persons of any other craft or trade under any name whatsoever other than the craft or trade of the said Barbers."

Barbers' Ordinance of 1376.

Surgeons' Ordinance of 1390.

Barbers' Ordinance confirmed in 1410.

Barbers' Company assumes two-fold character.

The Barbers' Company was by this time assuming a twofold character, for it consisted of two classes of members, those who were Barbers simply or practised only the minor branches of Surgery, such as blood-letting and tooth-drawing, and those who exercised the faculty of Surgery. In the year 1415 the Mayor and Aldermen required the Company to furnish them with a list of all the latter class of members, from which they selected two as Masters of those practising Surgery, leaving to the Company itself the election of the Masters of the Barbers. Meanwhile the Guild of Surgeons sought an alliance with the Physicians. About the year 1423, probably through the influence of Thomas Morstede (a Surgeon who accompanied Henry V. to Agincourt and who was afterwards Surgeon to Henry VI.), they obtained an Ordinance from the Court of Aldermen having for its object an association or Commonalty of Physicians and Surgeons. Fortified by the support of the Physicians, the Surgeons once more challenged the surgical privileges of the Barbers, but these were again confirmed by the Mayor and Aldermen in 1424. The scheme for a combination of Physicians and Surgeons fell through, but the Surgeons continued a separate body with Ordinances for the government of their Society. The volume containing these Ordinances, which were made in the year 1435, is still in existence and is now in the possession of the Barbers' Company.

Temporary alliance of Surgeons' Guild with Physicians in 1423.

Freed from opposition, the Barbers' Company continued to grow in importance, and in the year 1462 the right of its members to practise Surgery was definitely established by LETTERS PATENT granted by EDWARD IV. in the first year of his reign. This Charter, from which the Royal College of Surgeons of England, as recited in the Charter of 1800, dates its constitutional history as a body corporate, was granted to the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London practising Surgery. They were made one Body and Perpetual Community with a Common Seal and with power to hold lands and make Bye-Laws. Provision was made for the annual election of two Masters to rule the Community, to have the scrutiny and government of all persons practising Surgery in London and its suburbs, as well as the supervision of their instruments and medicines, and to have power to inflict punishment upon offenders by fines, imprisonment and other reasonable means. No person was to be allowed to practise Surgery within the City of London and its suburbs unless first approved by the Masters of the Company. The surgical rights of the Barbers' Company were thus firmly established, and, as testimony to the eminence attained by the Surgeons of the Company, it is worthy of note that the Senior Warden of the Company, when the Charter was granted, was WILLIAM HOBBES, Serjeant-Surgeon to the King—probably the first to hold that office.

Provisions of the Charter of 1st Edward IV.

In the year 1493 the Guild of Surgeons, which had continued as a separate body, entered into an alliance or "Composition" with the Barbers' Company, by which the two Companies agreed each to appoint two Wardens, the four so appointed to act together in all matters relating to Surgery and to the examination and government of its practitioners.

Alliance between the Barbers' Company and Surgeons' Guild made in 1493.

The Charter granted by Edward IV. to the Barbers' Company was confirmed by Henry VII. and also by Henry VIII., but in 1511 an Act (3 Henry VIII. cap. 11) was passed, constituting a further licensing authority by enacting that no person should practise as a Physician or Surgeon in London, or within seven miles of the same, unless first examined and approved by the Bishop of London, or the Dean of St. Paul's, with the assistance of four Physicians or Surgeons. Two years later, upon the petition of the Guild of Surgeons, another Act (5 Henry VIII. cap. 6) was passed, providing that a limited number of members of the Fellowship (or Guild) of Surgeons, as also of members of the Barbers' Company duly admitted as Surgeons, should be exempt from Constableship and Watch and from bearing arms and serving upon inquests and juries within the City of London.

Of the Act 5th Henry VIII. relating to exemption of Surgeons from bearing arms and serving on juries; 1513.

In the year 1540 the two Companies, which had so long been associated by voluntary agreement, were formally united by Act of Parliament, and thus entered upon a new era in their career. The Act (32nd Henry VIII. cap. 42) after reciting that there were two distinct Companies of Surgeons in London, one called the Barbers of London and the other the Surgeons of London, enacted that the two Companies should from thenceforth be united and made one Body Corporate, to be called by the name of the Masters or Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty of the Barbers and Surgeons of London. The United Company was to enjoy all the rights and privileges at any time granted to the two separate Companies. Four Masters or Governors, two to be Surgeons and two to be Barbers, were to be appointed annually; barbers were forbidden to perform any surgical operations, except the drawing of teeth, and surgeons were not to exercise the craft of barbery and shaving. Provision was also made for the study of Anatomy by giving the Company the right to claim four bodies annually of persons executed for felony. Thomas Vicary, Serjeant-Surgeon to Henry VIII. and afterwards to Mary and to Elizabeth, was elected the first Master. The United Company shared the possession of Barbers' Hall, which is known to have occupied its present site in Monkwell Street since 1490 and was probably there even before that. The Hall, subsequently added to by Inigo Jones in 1636, is still standing, having escaped destruction in the Great Fire of London.

Of the Act 34th and 35th Henry VIII. regarding treatment of minor ailments by unlicensed persons.

The Union thus effected was destined to last for more than two hundred years. At first, however, the privileges conferred on the Surgeons of the Company appear to have excited opposition, for in the 34th and 35th years of Henry VIII. an Act was passed allowing unlicensed persons to treat outward sores and swellings with herbs and ointments.

Origin of Court of Examiners in 1555.

During the reign of QUEEN MARY, in the year 1555, Regulations were drawn up relating to the examination of persons for the Company's Licence to practise. These Regulations provided for the appointment of thirteen Examiners, including the Master and two Governors. This is the origin of the Court of Examiners of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, although it was not until the time of Charles I. that the appointment of ten Examiners—the number continued to this day—was provided for by Charter.

Letters Patent of James I. and provisions thereof, 1605.

In the year 1605 the Company obtained a Charter from JAMES I. providing that the Governing Body of the Company should consist of four Masters or Governors, two of whom were to be Surgeons, and twenty-six Assistants. The Company was given power to examine Barbers and Surgeons, and to prohibit ignorant persons, or such as wilfully refused to be examined, from practising.

Letters Patent of Charles I. and provisions thereof, 1629.

In the year 1629 CHARLES I. granted a further Charter to the Company, providing that ten Freemen of the Company should be elected and constituted Examiners of Surgeons in London. No one was to practise Surgery in London, or within seven miles of it, except Members of the College of Physicians, unless examined and approved by the Examiners of the Company, and every person so approved might practise Surgery anywhere in England. Apprentices were to serve for not less than seven years, to be sound in body and limbs, and to read and understand Latin. The duty was also assigned to the Court of Examiners of examining Surgeons and Surgeons' Assistants for the Royal Navy and Merchant Service and of inspecting their instruments and chests of medicines. This duty they and their successors, the Company of Surgeons and the Royal College of Surgeons, continued to discharge until other arrangements were made at a comparatively recent date.

Surgeons object to their union with the Barbers, 1684.

For many years the union between the two Companies appears to have worked smoothly, but as early as 1684 there were signs that the Surgeons were beginning to find their association with the Barbers irksome and inconvenient. In that year a Petition for the dissolution of the United Company was presented to the King, but the agitation died out, and it was not until many years later that further steps were taken in the matter. The dissatisfaction, however, continued. From the year 1540 the practice of Surgery had been entirely separated from that of barbery, and much progress had been made in surgical skill and knowledge. Under the United Company several of the Surgeons had attained great eminence in their profession, and among these may be mentioned Richard Ferris, Thomas Gale, the two Clowes', Wiseman, Amyand, Cheselden, Sir Caesar Hawkins, and Percivall Pott. The Surgeons resented the presence of Barbers at their examinations, and objected to the signatures of Barbers appearing upon Surgical Diplomas. In 1744 they informed the Barbers that they intended to petition Parliament for the dissolution of the union. The Barbers protested against this, and both parties presented Petitions to Parliament. The Surgeons prevailed, and in the year 1745 an Act of Parliament was passed dissolving the union and establishing two separate Companies. The Barbers were allowed to retain the whole of the Corporate property, real and personal, with the exception of the Arris Bequest and Gale's Annuity for Anatomy Lectures founded in 1646 and 1655 respectively. These Trusts the Act vested in the Company of Surgeons, and they are now administered by the Royal College of Surgeons.

Petition for dissolution of union presented, 1744.

The union dissolved in 1745.

This Act of the 18th GEORGE II. dissolving the union of the Barbers and the Surgeons incorporated the Surgeons under the name of the Master, Governors and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, and constituted a governing body consisting of twenty-one Assistants appointed for life, of whom one was to be Master and two Governors or Wardens elected annually, and of whom ten were to be Examiners appointed for life. JOHN RANBY, Serjeant-Surgeon to George II. (whom he accompanied to the battle of Dettingen in 1743), became the first Master of the Company, and upon taking his seat he presented a handsome silver cup, which is still in the possession of the College. The First Wardens were JOSEPH SANDFORD and WILLIAM CHESELDEN. These appointments were made by the Act, which also specified by name the ten Examiners and sixteen Members of the Court of Assistants. The sixteen thus appointed were directed to meet forthwith, and select from the Freemen of the Company five others to complete the number of the Court. Thereafter, the Court were to meet on the first Thursday in July in each succeeding year for the election of the Master and Governors, and to fill up any vacancies, which from time to time might occur from death or resignation among the Examiners and Assistants. In addition to examining Surgeons for the Navy the Examiners were also required to examine all candidates for the posts of Surgeon or Surgeons' Mate in the Army. The Freemen of the Company were to enjoy the same Surgical privileges as approved Surgeons of the United Company had enjoyed under the Act of Union and Charter of Charles I., and, while in the practice of their profession, were to be exempt from all Parish, Ward, and Leet Offices and from serving upon Juries.

Surgeons Hall built.

The Surgeons had to find a new home, and, after holding their first meetings at Stationers' Hall, eventually secured premises in the Old Bailey and there built Surgeons' Hall, entering into occupation in 1751. Here the business of the Company was transacted until 1796, when the Court of Assistants, finding the building in need of substantial repair and their tenure of the premises secured for not more than fifty-five years, determined to dispose of the property and erect a new building upon a freehold site.

Difficulties caused by irregular meeting of Court of Assistants in 1796.

About this time the Company became involved in difficulties in consequence of a provision in the Act of Incorporation which had unfortunately been framed without due regard to possible eventualities. This provision required that the Master and Governors, or any two of them, with nine or more members of the Court of Assistants, should constitute a Court for the despatch of business. On the 7th July, 1796, a meeting was held at which the Master, Mr. Gunning, presided, but at which no Governor was present, one having died in the previous May and the other being too ill to attend. Consequently it was impossible to obtain a properly constituted quorum. Nevertheless the Court conducted its ordinary business, and among other matters elected Henry Cline to the Court of Assistants. In spite of this technical defect in their constitution, the Court of Assistants continued to transact the business of the Company. They disposed of their property in the Old Bailey and acquired a freehold site in Lincoln's Inn Fields, upon which part of the present building of the Royal College of Surgeons of England now stands. The business of the Company was not suspended. Examinations were held and Diplomas were issued. The Examinations of Surgeons for the Navy and Army were also continued. It became, however, necessary to find some means of removing the legal difficulties which had arisen, and, for this purpose and also with the object of acquiring additional powers and authority, a Bill was introduced into Parliament. The Bill passed through the Commons, but was thrown out in the House of Lords; and after further deliberation it was determined to abandon the Bill and to petition for a Charter from the Crown.

Property in Old Bailey sold and site in Lincoln's Inn Fields acquired.

Endeavour to reconstitute Company by Act of Parliament abandoned, and petition for Charter presented.

Meanwhile Parliament entrusted to the care of the Company the Hunterian Collection purchased for the Nation at a cost of £15,000. The Collection was delivered to the Company under an Order of the Treasury, dated 28th November, 1799, and in March 1800 the Company was re-incorporated and constituted by the name of the Royal College of Surgeons in London, by Charter granted by George III. In the year 1806 Parliament voted a sum of £15,000, and subsequently a further sum of £12,500, in aid of the erection of a building for the display of the Hunterian Collection. A contribution of £21,000 was at the same time made from the funds of the College, and the Museum was opened to visitors in 1813.

Hunterian Collection entrusted to Company in 1799.

The Charter of the 40th George III. definitively severed the connexion of the College with the Corporation of the City of London. Members of the College were not entitled to any franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City, but all other privileges and possessions acquired under former Acts and Charters, and not altered by the Charter then granted, were continued and ratified. The Court of Assistants still consisted of twenty-one Members appointed for life with power to fill up vacancies as they might happen, and from them were chosen the ten Examiners, the Master and two Governors or Wardens being selected from these ten. The two principal Serjeant-Surgeons and the Surgeon-General to the Forces, if not already on the Courts of Assistants and Examiners, were always to be admitted into those Courts in preference to all other persons, when any vacancy should occur.

Charter of George III. constitutes Royal College of Surgeons of London in 1800.

The Court of Assistants and Court of Examiners.

Charles Hawkins, Serjeant-Surgeon to George III., was appointed the First Master, and William Long and George Chandler became the first Governors. All Members of the old Company of Surgeons, on signifying their acceptance of the Charter, were entitled to become Members of the College, and any person in the future desiring to become a Member was required to pass an examination and obtain "Letters Testimonial of his Qualification to practise the Art and Science of Surgery under the Common Seal of the College." In addition to examining candidates for the Membership, the Court of Examiners were required, as under the former Acts and Charters, to examine all Army and Navy Surgeons, their Assistants and Mates, and to inspect their instruments.

A further Charter, granted by George IV. in 1822, changed the titles Master and Governors to President and Vice-Presidents, and provided that the Court of Assistants should in future be styled the Council of the College.

Titles of Master and Governors changed to President and Vice-Presidents, and Court of Assistants to be called Council.

Name of College changed to Royal College of Surgeons of England and Fellowship instituted in 1843.

No change was, however, made in the constitution of the College until the year 1843, when a new Charter (7th Victoria) was obtained, which changed the name of the College to The Royal College of Surgeons of England, and instituted a new class of Members, who were to be called Fellows, from and by whom the Council were to be elected. The number of the Council was increased to twenty-four, and, while the existing Members of the Council were allowed to continue in office for life, provision was made that three elected Members should retire annually, so that, when no more life-Members were left, it would not be possible for a Member to retain his seat for a longer period than eight years without re-election.

Number of Council increased.

Constitution of Court of Examiners altered.

A great change was also effected by this Charter in the constitution of the Court of Examiners. They were no longer to be necessarily selected from the Council, but any Fellow, whether on the Council or not, was made eligible. The Examiners then in office were to continue for life, but all future Examiners were to hold office only during the pleasure of the Council. The Serjeant-Surgeons and Surgeon-General to the Forces were no longer to have any preference of being admitted Examiners, and the President and Vice-Presidents were not to be chosen exclusively from the Examiners but from all the Members of the Council indifferently, whether Examiners of the College or not.

Provision for election of the first Fellows.

The Charter further provided that the President, Vice-Presidents and Members of the Council should be Fellows, and directed them to elect, within three months from the date of the Charter, not less than 250 and not more than 300 Members of the College to be Fellows. They were also given power to appoint other Members to be Fellows within one year from the date of the Charter. With these exceptions no persons were to be admitted to the Fellowship except by examination, nor until attaining the age of twenty-five years. The first Fellows, 300 in number, were chosen mainly from the Surgeons, Assistant-Surgeons and Lecturers of the Metropolitan and Provincial Hospitals. They were elected under one general Diploma on December 11th, 1843. A further election of 242 Fellows took place on the 26th August, 1844, and these included a considerable number of representatives of the Naval, Military and Indian Forces.

Further provision for the election of Fellows in 1852.

In the year 1852 further extension of the principle of election to the Fellowship without examination was made by a Supplemental Charter (15th Victoria), which enabled the Council to elect Members of fifteen years' standing to the Fellowship, provided they were Members when the Charter of 1843 was enacted. The Council were also empowered to admit annually to the Fellowship, without examination, two Members of the College of twenty years' standing, and authority was given for the ad eundem admission to the Fellowship, under certain conditions, of Fellows by examination of the Dublin and the Edinburgh Colleges of Surgeons, and the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow. This Charter also provided that Members of the Court of Examiners thereafter elected should go out of office at the end of five years, but should be eligible for immediate re-election. Provision was also made for the appointment of a Board of Examiners in Midwifery for testing the fitness of persons to practise Midwifery, and Licences in Midwifery were granted to persons passing the Examinations of the Board until the year 1875, after which the Examinations were discontinued.

In the year 1859 the Licence in Dental Surgery was instituted under the Charter of the 23rd Victoria, which empowered the Council to appoint a Board of Examiners for testing the fitness of persons to practise as Dentists.

Licence in Dental Surgery instituted in 1859.

In the year 1875 an Act of Parliament was passed to enable the College to associate itself with one or more of the Colleges or Bodies named in Medical Acts for the purpose of conducting joint examinations for qualifications to be registered under the Acts. In pursuance of the provisions of this Act the College subsequently entered into an Agreement with the Royal College of Physicians of London, establishing a Conjoint Examining Board and requiring that all candidates for the Licence of the Royal College of Physicians of London and the Membership of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, commencing professional study after the 1st October, 1884, should pass the Examinations of the Board before becoming entitled to their Diplomas. Thus was constituted the present Examining Board of the two Colleges. The lease of a site on the Victoria Embankment was acquired from the Duchy of Lancaster, and on this an Examination Hall for the Board was erected at the joint expense of the two Colleges. The foundation-stone was laid by Queen Victoria on the 24th March 1886, and the Hall was first used for examinations in the year 1887. In addition to the examinations for the L.R.C.P. Lond. and M.R.C.S. Eng., examinations are also conducted by the Board for a Diploma in Public Health, granted jointly by the two Colleges, the first examination for this Diploma being held in 1887. Further, in 1904, the question of establishing an examination and Diploma in Tropical Medicine and Hygiene was considered, at the suggestion of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, but, while the Charter of 1888 allows Fellows to record votes at Council Elections by papers sent through Post.

In the year 1888 a Supplemental Charter was obtained, mainly with the objects of enabling the College to hold lands and hereditaments of a greater yearly value than that previously sanctioned, and of allowing Fellows to record their votes at elections to the Council by voting-papers sent through the Post, instead of by personal attendance at the College, as required up to that time.

Honorary Fellowship instituted by Charter in 1899.

The last Charter, obtained by the College in 1899, the 63rd year of Queen Victoria's reign, enables the Council to elect persons, whom they shall deem to be sufficiently distinguished for the purpose, to be Honorary Fellows of the College. These Honorary Fellows, the number of whom must not exceed fifty at any time, are not eligible for the Council or for the Court of Examiners, nor are they entitled to vote at Elections to the Council. Their status is purely honorary and does not confer the right to practise Surgery. The first to become an Honorary Fellow was King Edward VII., who, when Prince of Wales, was graciously pleased to accept the Diploma. At the head of a list of distinguished names the College now has the honour to place that of King George V. His Majesty, when Prince of Wales, became an Honorary Fellow of the College, and, after ascending the Throne, signified his pleasure to retain the title.

New Examination Hall built.

In the year 1908 the Examination Hall on the Victoria Embankment was sold, and a freehold site in Queen Square, Bloomsbury, was subsequently purchased. Upon this site a new Examination Hall has been built by the two Colleges, and since May 1912 the Examinations of the Conjoint Board have been conducted in this building.

CHARTERS.

40th GEORGE III.

22nd March, 1800.

by which the Union of the two Companies was dissolved;

and which constituted a distinct Company of Surgeons, by the Name of "The Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London."

And whereas, by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the 18th Year of the Reign of our late Royal Grandfather, King George II., intitled "An Act for making the Surgeons of London, and the Barbers of London, two separate and distinct Corporations," It was enacted, that the said Union and Incorporation of the Barbers and Surgeons of London, made and effected by the aforesaid Act of the 32d Year of King Henry VIII. should, from and after the 24th Day of June, 1745, be dissolved and declared void and of no effect; and that such of the Members of the said united Company who were Freemen of the said Company, and admitted and approved Surgeons, within the Rules of the said Company, and their Successors, should from thenceforth be made, and they were thereby made and constituted, a separate and distinct Body Corporate and Commonalty Perpetual, which at all times thereafter were to be called by the Name of Master, Governors and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, and by the same Name might implead and be impleaded before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Actions and Suits, and take to them and their Successors, Lands, Tenements, Rents, or Hereditaments, not exceeding the yearly Value of £200 in the whole.

Recital that such Corporation was dissolved.

And whereas, we are informed that the said Corporation of Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, hath become and now is dissolved: AND WHEREAS, it is of great consequence to the Commonweal of this Kingdom, that the Art and Science of Surgery should be duly promoted: AND WHEREAS, it appears to us, that the Establishment of a College of Surgeons will be expedient for the due promotion and encouragement of the Study and Practice of the said Art and Science, Now WE, of our special Grace and mere Motion, and at the humble Petition of JAMES EARLE, Esquire, the late Master, and divers other Members of the aforesaid late Corporation of Surgeons; have willed, ordained, constituted, declared, given and granted, and by these Presents, for Us, Our Heirs, and Successors, do will, ordain, constitute, and declare, give and grant; unto the aforesaid JAMES EARLE, and unto all the Members of the said late Company or Corporation of Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London; having been admitted and approved Surgeons, within the Rules of the said Company; and also unto all such Persons, who upon, or since, the dissolution of the said Corporation, shall have obtained Letters Testimonial, under a Seal purporting to be the Seal of the said late dissolved Corporation, authorizing them to practise the Art and Science of Surgery; and they, from henceforth for ever hereafter, shall be and remain by virtue of these Presents, one Body Corporate and Politic; by the Name of THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS IN LONDON, and by the same Name shall and may have perpetual Succession, and a Common Seal; with power to break, alter, and make anew the said Seal, from time to time at their will and pleasure; and by the same Name shall and may implead, and be impleaded, before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Actions and Suits; and shall be at all times for ever hereafter persons able and capable in Law to take, purchase, possess, hold, and enjoy, and shall and may take, purchase, possess, hold and enjoy, a Hall or Council-house, with its Appurtenances, situate within the Cities of London or Westminster, or within one Mile of either of them, for the use and purposes of the said College; and also any other Lands, Tenements, Rents, or Hereditaments, wheresoever situate, lying and being; not exceeding, together with the aforesaid Hall or Council-house, and its appurtenances, the yearly value of one thousand Pounds in the whole; without incurring any of the Penalties in any Statute of Mortmain, or any Thing, in any Statute of Mortmain, to the contrary notwithstanding.

That it is of great consequence that the Science of Surgery should be duly promoted, and that a College will be expedient for the due encouragement thereof.

Therefore His Majesty was pleased to incorporate the Members of the late Company, and all such Persons who since the Dissolution thereof have obtained Letters Testimonial &c.

By the name of "The Royal College of Surgeons in London."

With perpetual succession and a common seal;

SECT. XIV.—EXAMINATION AND ADMISSION OF MEMBERS.

1. No person under the age of Twenty-one years shall become a Member of the College nor unless and until he shall have passed the Examinations for Qualifications to be registered under the Medical Act, held by the Examining Board for the time being constituted under the Scheme and Regulations approved and adopted by the Royal College of Physicians of London on March 12th, 1883, and by the College on April 29th, 1883 (herein called the Joint Examinations), and complied with the conditions relating thereto contained in the said Scheme and Regulations, or such conditions as may be agreed upon between the College of Physicians and the College for the time being. Nothing contained in this Section shall diminish or affect the right of any person who shall have commenced professional study before the 1st of October, 1884, to be examined for and to receive the Diploma of Member of the College; but such right, where it exists, shall remain and continue, to all intents and purposes, as if this Bye-Law had not been enacted.

2. The Diploma of Member shall be in such Form as the Council may from time to time judge proper.

3. The Seal of the College shall be affixed to the Diploma of every Member of the College.

4. Every person, prior to his admission as a Member of the College, shall, in the presence of an Officer of the College, make and subscribe his name to the following Declaration: —

"I, A. B., do solemnly and sincerely declare, that, while a Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, I will observe the Bye-Laws thereof: that I will obey every lawful Summons issued by order of the Council of the said College, having no reasonable excuse to the contrary: and that I will demean myself honourably in the practice of my Profession; and to the utmost of my power maintain the dignity and welfare of the College."

5. Every person, prior to his admission as a Member, shall subscribe his name to a Copy of the Bye-Laws of the College, in testimony of his having engaged himself to the observance thereof.

6. The fee for the Diploma of Member, exclusive of the fees payable for the Licence of the Royal College of Physicians of London under the Scheme and Regulations for the Joint Examinations, shall be such sum not exceeding Twenty Guineas and shall be payable in such manner and at such times as the Council from time to time direct, and in addition thereto there shall be paid the Stamp Duty, if any, on such Diploma and such reasonable fees for and in case of re-examination as shall be in like manner directed.

7. If the Court of Examiners shall find any circumstance in the Character, Conduct, or mode of Practice of any Candidate for Examination which in their opinion renders such Candidate unfit to be admitted a Member of the College, the said Court shall have the power of declining to examine him until the opinion of the Council shall have been taken thereon.

SECT. XV.—RIGHTS OF FELLOWS AND MEMBERS.

3. Any Fellow or Member who shall have been removed by Resolution of the Council as aforesaid shall thereby forfeit all his rights and privileges as a Fellow and Member or a Member of the College; and his Diplomas or Diploma shall thereupon be void and shall become the property of the College, and be delivered up by such Fellow or Member to the College on demand, provided that if at any subsequent time the Council of the College by Resolution, and subject to such conditions as they may think proper, rescind any Resolution which may have been passed under any of the preceding Bye-Laws for removing any person from being a Fellow and Member or Member of the College, such rescinding of the former Resolution shall have the effect of restoring such person to the Fellowship or Membership of the College, and such person shall, notwithstanding such removal or forfeiture as aforesaid, but subject to such conditions as the Council may in the particular case see fit to impose, be restored to his rights and privileges as a Fellow and Member or a Member of the College.

And every Fellow or Member of the College who shall thereupon be removed as aforesaid shall forfeit all his rights and privileges as a Fellow and Member or a Member thereof.

2. All meetings convened by or under the authority of the President or Council of the College, as well for general business as for the delivery of Orations or Lectures, or for the distribution of Prizes, shall be under the control and direction of the President or other Member of the Council presiding at such Meeting. And any Fellow or Member of the College who shall interrupt, impede, or interfere with the proceedings at any such Meeting, or shall propose any matter for discussion or debate without the leave of the President or other person so presiding, shall, upon being required by the President or other person so presiding, immediately withdraw from such Meeting; and shall be moreover liable to be restrained and excluded by the Council from attending any Orations and Lectures at the Theatre, and from any use of or admission to the Library and Museum, and to be suspended from any or all other privileges which he may have as a Fellow and Member or a Member of the College, for any such period as the Council may adjudge. HUNTERIAN ORATION.

In the year 1813 Dr. Matthew Baillie and Sir Everard Home, Bart., Executors of John Hunter, "being desirous of showing a lasting mark of respect to the memory of the late Mr. John Hunter," gave to the College the sum of £1684 4*s.* 4*d.* Three per cent Consolidated Bank Annuities for the endowment of an annual Oration, to be called the Hunterian Oration, and to be delivered in the Theatre of the College on the 14th of February, the Birthday of John Hunter, by the Master, or one of the Governors for the time being, or such other Member of the Court of Assistants as should be appointed by the Master and Governors or any two of them—such Oration to be expressive of the merits in Comparative Anatomy, Physiology, and Surgery, not only of John Hunter, but also of all such persons, as should be from time to time deceased, whose labours have contributed to the improvement or extension of Surgical Science.

The Endowment was accepted by the College under a Deed of Trust dated the 9th October 1813, containing, amongst others, the following conditions:—That the Fund should be vested in the names of three Members of the Court of Assistants; that £10, part of the interest accruing from the Fund, should be given to the Orator; and that the remainder of the interest should be expended in providing a Dinner, on the day of the delivery of the Oration, for the Members of the Court of Assistants and such other persons as the Master and Governors for the time being should think proper to invite.

In 1853, after consultation with the representatives of the founders of the Trust, it was decided that the Oration should in future be delivered biennially instead of annually.

The fund was re-invested in 1900, and at the present time consists of £1850 India Three per Cent. Stock.

In 1894, by permission of the Lords of the Treasury, this Clause was altered to the following, viz.:—

"That one Course of Lectures, not less than twelve in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by preparations from the Hunterian Collection and the other contents of the Museum, shall be given every year by Fellows or Members of the College."

ARRIS AND GALE LECTURES.

The Arris Lectures were founded in 1646 by Mr. Edward Arris, a Member of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons, of which he became Master in 1651. He was also an Alderman of the City of London in that year. He died on the 28th May 1676. His portrait in one picture with a portrait of Sir Charles Scarborough, who was appointed to deliver the Arris Lectures in 1649, is in the possession of the Barbers' Company.

From the Minute Books of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons it appears that on the 24th March 1646 Mr. Edward Arris paid to the Company a sum of £300 "for the use of the new publique Anatomy." This sum was subsequently repaid to Mr. Arris, and in lieu thereof he settled upon the Company an annuity of £30, which shortly before his death he redeemed by the payment of £510. By the Act of Parliament of the 18th George II (1745) for dissolving the Union between the Barbers and Surgeons this sum of £510 was given and vested in the Company of Surgeons then incorporated, and upon the dissolution of that Company became vested in the College. The fund now consists of £433 6*s.* 8*d.* Metropolitan Consolidated Three per Cent. Stock.

In the final settlement of the Trust no conditions appear to have been imposed save an understanding that the Anatomy Lectures of the Company were to be continued. By an Act of Parliament passed in 1540 the Company were entitled to claim four bodies annually of persons executed for felony, and to make use of them for the study of Anatomy. The bodies were dissected, and lectures on the muscles and other subjects were given. The Surgeons of the Company were required to attend these lectures and demonstrations, which were called "Public Anatomies." The intention of Mr. Arris was to assist the Company in this work, and the lecturers appointed under this foundation were at first called "Readers of the Muscular Lecture."

Under the Company of Surgeons the Arris Lectures were from 1753 to 1766 delivered by the Masters of Anatomy, of whom the first to be appointed were Percivall Pott and John Hunter. In 1767 the office of Professor of Anatomy was created, and the Arris Lectures were assigned to him.

The Gale Lectures were founded by Mr. John Gale of Bushey, a Member of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons, who, by his Will, dated 13th August 1655, left to the Company an Annuity of £16, payable out of the rents of certain premises on Snow Hill in the City of London, for one Anatomy Lecture in every year to be called Gale's Anatomy.

This Annuity, together with the Arris Bequest, was by the Act of Parliament of 1745 vested in the Company of Surgeons, and upon the dissolution of that Company became vested in the College. In pursuance of Acts of Parliament passed in the 35th and 44th years of George III for the improvement of Snow Hill, the Rent Charge of £16 per annum was purchased by the City of London for the sum of £432, which sum, in accordance with the directions of those Acts, was invested in the name of the Accountant General of the Court of Chancery, until the same shall again be invested in some Real Estate, and the same was laid out in the purchase of £689 16*s.* 5*d.* Consolidated Bank Annuities (re-invested in £703 0*s.* 1*d.* 2½ per Cent. Consols in 1891), the interest thereof being paid to the College.

The earliest record of a lecture under this Trust is dated 30th June 1698, when it was "ordered that there be an Anatomy Lecture called Gale's Anatomy," and Dr. Havers, well known for his description of the canals in bone, since called Haversian, was appointed the first Reader. The Lecture was afterwards called the Osteology Lecture.

Under the Company of Surgeons the Lecture was at first allotted to the senior Master of Anatomy, and afterwards to the Professor of Anatomy.

At the beginning of the Nineteenth Century, lectures were for a time suspended at the College owing to building operations, but were resumed in 1810. It was then determined that six lectures should be delivered annually under the Arris and Gale Trusts. The lectures were no longer distinguished as "muscular" and "osteological," but were united into one course delivered by a Professor of Anatomy and Surgery. In 1857 the title of the lecturer was altered to Professor of Human Anatomy and Surgery, and in 1868 to Arris and Gale Lecturer. In 1864 the number of lectures was reduced to three. Honorarium for the three lectures, the amount of the dividends received from the Arris Bequest and Gale Annuity—about £29.

ERASMUS WILSON LECTURES.

With the object of promoting the study of the Pathology together with the Anatomy and Physiology, human and comparative, of the Skin and its Appendages, the late Sir Erasmus Wilson gave to the College the sum of £5000 New Three per cent. Consols, under a Deed of Trust, dated the 8th July 1869, to found and endow a Professorship of Dermatology. The Council appointed Sir Erasmus Wilson to the Professorship, and during the period 1870–78 he delivered six lectures annually, and presented to the Museum a large collection of casts and models used in illustration of his lectures.

In 1879 certain alterations in the terms of the Trust were effected with the approval of the Founder, providing that the income derived from the Fund should be devoted to the promotion of original researches by lectures delivered at the College, the number of such lectures not to exceed three in any one year, and to be given by one or more persons to be called Erasmus Wilson Professors of Pathology.

In 1881 further alterations were thought desirable, and under a new Deed of Trust, dated the 13th April 1882, it is now provided that the income of the Fund shall be appropriated in part towards the payment of the salary of a Pathological Curator of the Museum, and in part for the payment of Lectures on the Pathological contents of the Museum to be delivered by the Pathological Curator or some other person appointed for the purpose with the title of Erasmus Wilson Lecturer. Three lectures were delivered annually from 1882 to 1908. In July 1908 it was decided to institute a series of lectures or demonstrations on advanced Surgical Pathology, illustrated by specimens in the Museum, and from 1909 to 1918 the Erasmus Wilson Lectures formed part of this Series, six demonstrations being given annually by Mr. S. G. Shattock, the Pathological Curator. Honorarium £30. The Lectures have been suspended during the War.

ARNOTT DEMONSTRATIONS.

Mr. James Moncrieff Arnott, F.R.S., President of the College in 1850 and 1859, died in 1885, and by his Will left to the College the sum of £1000, to the end that the annual interest or income thereof should be applied annually to the purposes of the Museum and the Lectures connected therewith, the bequest to be payable after the death of his daughter, Miss Jane Moncrieff Arnott.

Miss Arnott died in June 1907, and the bequest was paid to the College and invested in £1081 0*s*. 6*d*. Transvaal Government Three per cent. Stock in November 1907.

In July 1908 it was decided to institute a series of Lectures or Demonstrations on advanced Surgical Pathology, illustrated by specimens in the Museum, and to apply the income derived from the Arnott Bequest to the payment of part of the cost of these Lectures or Demonstrations. In 1908–09 nine Demonstrations were given under this Trust, and Section XXI. of the Standing Rules now provides that under the Arnott Bequest not less than six Demonstrations of the contents of the Museum shall be given annually by the Conservator of the Museum or some other duly qualified person or persons. BLICKE BEQUEST.

Sir Charles Blicke, Master of the College in 1803 and 1810, died in 1815, and by his Will left to the College £300 Three per cent. Consols "for the distinct purpose of applying the annual interest thereof for the purchase of books for ever."

The fund was transferred to the College in 1817, and vested in the names of three Members of the Court of Assistants as Trustees.

In 1900 the fund was re-invested, and at the present time consists of £300 India Three per cent. Stock.

CLINE TRUST.

Mr. Henry Cline, Master of the College in 1815 and President in 1823, died in 1827, and by his Will bequeathed to the College, on trust, such an amount of his Three per cent. French Rentes as should at the time of his death produce £600 per annum, the dividends thereof to be received by his children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren, and after the death of the survivor of them, to be applied to the improvement of the Science of Surgery in such manner as the Council of the College should from time to time direct. In satisfaction of this Bequest a Rente of 15,000 francs per annum was entered in the Books of the Bank of France.

Of this annuity 535 francs were sold in 1908 to pay Estate Duty and interest thereon claimed by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue upon one-fifth of the 15,000 francs passing on the death of each of four of the five great grandchildren. The surviving great grandchild died on the 5th August, 1917, and the balance of 14,465 francs per annum will be transferred into the name of the College. These Rentes, which now form the Trust, were valued by the Inland Revenue Authorities at £10,366 11*s*. 6*d*., and Estate and Legacy Duties thereon, amounting to £1,525 19s. 11*d*. have been paid out of general funds of the College, as the regulations of the French Government prevent any portion of the Rentes forming the Bequest being sold and the proceeds transmitted abroad during the War. For the present the income from the Trust, when received, will be devoted to refunding the sum borrowed from the general funds of the College.

JACKSONIAN PRIZE.

In the year 1800 Mr. Samuel Jackson, F.R.S., a Member of the College, announced his intention of giving a sum of £10 annually as a Prize to the Author of the best Dissertation on a practical subject in Surgery. In order to make the donation perpetual, he subsequently gave to the College a sum of £333 6*s*. 8*d*. Consolidated Bank Annuities, which he vested in the name of three Members of the Court of Assistants under a Deed of Trust, dated the 13th April 1806.

On the 13th May, 1869, it was resolved "that in any year in which the Jacksonian Prize is not adjudged the interest arising from the Jacksonian Fund be added to the principal of the Fund," and through additions thus made and re-investment in 1891 the Fund now consists of £550 India Three per cent. Stock.

TRIENNIAL PRIZE

AND

JOHN HUNTER MEDAL.

This Prize was founded by the Court of Assistants in the year 1820, and was first offered for competition in 1822. The honorarium, which is provided from the funds of the College, at first amounted to Thirty Pounds, but in 1840 was increased to Fifty Guineas.

In 1864 a life-size statue of John Hunter by H. Weekes, R.A., was erected in the Museum of the College by public subscription, and with the residue of the subscriptions the Statue Committee founded the John Hunter Medal, which in the year 1867 they entrusted to the College upon the following conditions, viz.:—"That the Medal be awarded to the Author of the Dissertation to which the Collegial Triennial Prize shall from time to time be adjudged on condition that the College, having entrusted to it the custody of the Medal dies for ever and to be used only for the aforesaid purpose, do promise and engage to have such Medal struck at its own proper cost."

The Prize now consists of the John Hunter Medal executed in Gold to the value of Fifty Guineas, or, at the option of the successful Author of the Dissertation, of the said Medal executed in Bronze with an honorarium of Fifty Pounds.

BLANE MEDALS.

This Medal was founded by Sir Gilbert Blane, Bt., F.R.S., a distinguished physician, best known for the sanitary reforms which he effected in the Navy, and the success of the measures which he introduced for the prevention of scurvy.

Under a Deed of Trust, dated the 13th March 1830, he transferred to the College the sum of £300 three per Cent. Consolidated Bank Annuities to provide for two Gold Medals to be conferred once in every two years on two Medical Officers of the Royal Navy "who in the time required shall have delivered to the proper office Journals evincing the most distinguished proofs of skill, diligence, humanity, and learning in the exercise of their professional duties." The Journals were to be submitted for adjudication to the President of the Royal College of Physicians of London, the President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and the Senior Medical Commissioner of the Royal Navy (Director-General of the Medical Department of the Navy).

In 1913, in pursuance of authority given to them under the Deed, the Presidents of the Colleges and the Director-General of the Medical Department of the Navy decided, with the approval of the Lords of the Admiralty, to make certain alterations in the Regulations for the award of the Medals, and it is now provided "that one Medal be awarded annually to the Medical Officer who obtains the highest aggregate marks at the examination for promotion to the rank of Staff Surgeon, now held twice a year in connection with the Courses at the Medical School of the Royal Naval College, Greenwich—the award to be subject to the approval of the Presidents of the Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons respectively, and the Director General of the Medical Department of the Navy."

The fund has been re-invested, and at the present time consists of £300 Metropolitan Consolidated 3½ per cent. Stock.

I. Military Orthopædic Hospitals.

At the meeting of the Council in June a letter was read from a provincial hospital calling the attention of the Council to the manner in which the hospitals and medical schools of the country are being affected by the steps taken by the Ministry of Pensions, in conjunction with the War Office, to eliminate cases of military injuries on a very wide definition of "orthopædics," from treatment in certain civil hospitals.

After devoting careful consideration to this question, the Council decided to send a letter to the Director General of the Army Medical Service, explaining their views and making the following recommendations :—

1 That a change of name from "Military Orthopædic Hospitals" to "Special Military Surgical Centres" be adopted.

2. That in making appointments to "Special Military Surgical Centres" greater consideration should in future be given to the need for the representation of medical staffs attached to the local civil hospitals (especially teaching hospitals); and, wherever possible, such changes should now be made as will secure this representation where it does not already exist.

II. Committee of Reference.

During the year 1917–18 the Committee has met on 41 occasions. In August 1917 the Committee, in conjunction with the Central Medical War Committee, presented a report to H.M. Government on the subject of Medical Recruiting Boards and made recommendations as to (1) the personnel of such Boards, (2) the efficiency and uniformity of the medical examination of recruits, (3) the appointment of Appeal Medical Boards. In September the Committee was consulted on the proposed organisation of the Medical Department of the Ministry of National Service. Mr. Charles Ryall was nominated to represent the Committee on the Advisory Medical Board of the Ministry.

A memorandum on the subject of the shortage of medical students was adopted by the Committee and presented to H.M. Government. The following were the conclusions:—

> "The Committee of Reference, in consequence of these facts, earnestly desire to impress upon H.M. Government the necessity of taking immediate steps to meet this shortage, and they recommend:—
> (a) That medical students now serving in the Army, whether as officers or privates, who have already passed the examination in anatomy and physiology for a medical qualification, should be demobilised and returned to their medical schools to complete their studies.
> (b) That medical students now serving in the Army, whether as officers or privates, who have not passed the examination in anatomy and physiology, should be seconded to their medical schools for a reasonable period to enable them to pass that examination, and that, if successful, they should be demobilised to complete their studies.
> It is, in the opinion of the Committee, highly desirable that effect should be given to these recommendations as soon as possible."

At the request of the Local Government Board the Committee has nominated for appointment by the President of the Board the Medical and Surgical Assessors to the Appeal Tribunal. The work of the Appeal Tribunal has greatly increased since the new Military Service Act came into force, and has recently necessitated the appointment of additional Assessors.

The Ministry of National Service having, in October last, asked the opinion of the Committee on the question of the payment of a fee for men sent to a hospital by a Recruiting Board for a special examination, the following resolutions were adopted, viz.:—

> "The Committee of Reference is of opinion that when a man has been sent by a Medical Board to a hospital for special examination and opinion a fee should be paid for such examination and report.

> The Committee is further of opinion that whilst the greater part of the fee should be allocated to the member of the staff making the examination, the hospital has a claim to the retention of a small part of the fee for establishment expenses."

In December, at the request of Lord Rhondda, the Committee appointed a Special Committee to advise him on medical questions involved in the rationing of food, and several reports by the Sub-Committee have been presented during the year.

A communication was received from the Ministry of National Service stating that no doctor holding a British qualification will be given a commission unless the Statutory Committee under which he comes is satisfied that he can be spared from the service of the civil community.

On the passing of the new Military Service Act, 1918, the Committee in June last had added to their duties that of a Medical Tribunal for members of the profession attached to hospitals in the London area.

Under this Act it has been necessary to investigate the cases of all members of the medical staffs of hospitals between the ages of 43 and 56—a work of an arduous nature. It is being proceeded with as the evidence of grading is furnished to the Committee.

An important proposal of the Committee with regard to a scheme for grouping the hospitals in London with a view to economy of medical staffs was approved by the Minister of National Service. This scheme is now under consideration.

In May the Committee called the attention of the Ministry of National Service to the serious position in which the hospitals were placed by the withdrawal of the practice of seconding newly qualified doctors to the hospitals for three months as house physicians and surgeons, and pointed out the advantage to the Army Medical Service of the experience gained by these young doctors whilst holding such appointments. The Committee was informed shortly afterwards that the system of seconding referred to had been reverted to.

During the year the Committee has been constantly engaged in considering the cases of doctors on the staffs of hospitals with a view to determine which of them can be spared for service in H.M. Forces. Many of these gentlemen have appeared in person before the Committee to give information as to their work and personal circumstances.

Sir George Makins, G.C.M.G., C.B., as President, became a member of the Committee in July 1917, and Dr. Norman Moore, as President of the Royal College of Physicians, joined the Committee in March last, when Dr. Sidney Martin, F.R.S., was elected Chairman of the Committee. Sir Rickman Godlee, Bt., K.C.V.O., has been elected Vice-Chairman.

III. The Registration of Dentists.

LETTER FROM DENTISTS ACT COMMITTEE.

Circular to Dental
Licensing Bodies and Dental Schools.

DENTISTS ACT COMMITTEE,
Local Government Board,
Whitehall, S.W. 1.
26th November, 1917.

SIR,

I am directed by the Dentists Act Committee, which has been appointed by the Lord President of the Council, to enclose for the information of the Licensing Bodies and Dental Schools, a copy of their terms of reference and to direct your attention especially to (3).

The Dentists Act Committee will be much obliged if they can be favoured with any observations which will be useful to them in reporting on this part of their reference.

The General Medical Council have supplied the Dentists Act Committee with copies of their minutes, from which the members of the Committee have become cognisant of the terms of the circular of 11th March 1915 addressed by the Dental Education and Examination Committee of the General Medical Council to each of the bodies granting dental qualifications and to the principal dental schools. The Committee are also aware of the replies which have been received in response to this circular letter and of the reports made thereon to the General Medical Council by the Dental Education and Examination Committee, the final report now being before the General Medical Council.

The documents in the hands of the Committee show the importance that each of the licensing bodies and dental schools attaches to an alteration of the law with a view to restricting unqualified dental practice. The opinions expressed as to the effect of the present law are explicit and unmistakable, and the Dentists Act Committee do not think it necessary to trouble the licensing bodies and dental schools to express any further observations on this point.

It may be pointed out that while their terms of reference would enable them to recommend that it is desirable further to restrict or to prohibit unqualified dental practice, and in that event to suggest the conditions under which certain classes of unqualified persons at present engaged in the practice of dentistry might be permitted to continue in practice, the third paragraph of their reference must be considered in this connection.

Restriction or prohibition of unqualified practice, if a satisfactory dental service is to be provided, implies the necessity of a greatly increased number of registered dentists with its corollary of an increase in the number of dental students seeking to enter the profession.

If any recommendation should be made as to the prohibition of unqualified practice it is important that an adequate supply of dental students should be forthcoming to provide a sufficient and efficient dental service for the public and private requirements of the community. The War has taken its toll of both qualified and unqualified practitioners and has thus not only diminished the number of dentists, but has also quickened the rapidly increasing appreciation on the part of public bodies and private individuals of the importance of attention to the preservation of the teeth. It is therefore important that the course of study which students have to pass through should in length, content, and cost impose no greater obstacles to the active recruitment of the profession, than are absolutely necessary in order to secure for the public efficient treatment.

The Committee have requested me to mention the foregoing considerations as it has been suggested that, even in the short period that has elapsed since the replies to the circular letter of the 11th March 1915 were sent in, the position has undergone considerable modification.

The Dentists Act Committee would, therefore, be obliged if the licensing bodies and dental schools would carefully consider :—

1. Whether a modified preliminary examination should entitle a student to commence his professional studies. In this connection the Committee have asked me to direct your attention to the proposals of the Board of Education with regard to the first school examination contained in circular 849 of the Board of Education enclosed herewith. The arrangements for this examination are now being organised by the Board of Education. We understand that the establishment of such an examination has been looked upon with approval by several professional bodies including the General Medical Council.

2. Whether any modification is desirable in the length of the professional course of study, the subjects which are included in such course, and the stringency of the examinations required. The Committee will be glad to be furnished with any other suggestions tending to reduce the cost of training dental students.

The Committee desire me to ask you specially to consider the following points in this connection :—

I. (a) Whether the six months' course in chemistry and physics which is now required to be taken as a part of a student's professional studies could not with advantage be replaced by evidence that the student had taken an approved course of chemistry and physics, including laboratory work, at a secondary school.

(b) Whether in such cases the possession of a 1st or 2nd school examination certificate including a pass in science could be recognised in lieu of the present examination in physics and chemistry.

II. Whether the time devoted to the more general medical courses is being spent to the best advantage and whether the courses should be in any particulars curtailed, and, if necessary, more time devoted to dental subjects.

III. Whether the instruction and practice in dental mechanics should only be permitted in a dental school and the practice of private pupilage abolished.

IV. Whether a 3 years' course of study with some relaxation in the stringency of the professional examination could be accepted for a registrable diploma in dentistry. If so, what safeguards should be taken to ensure a uniform standard in this lower examination.

V. If IV. be adopted whether a higher diploma or degree should be awarded either:

(a) after a further course of study of at least one year, or

(b) after a course differing in its content from that suggested under IV. above and having a wider range and extending over a longer period.

The Committee while asking the different Licensing Bodies and Dental Schools to express the fullest opinions on the subjects mentioned above would feel obliged if they could severally submit to the Committee a course of study and examination which they consider would be the most suitable, the whole course being limited to 3 years. In making this request I am to explain that it must not be understood that the Committee is in any way committed to the view that a 3 years' course of study is adequate.

The Committee will also be glad to be furnished with any of the following statistics which the Licensing Bodies or Dental Schools may be able to supply:—

(1) The percentage of medical students who pass their final examination after not more than 5 years of study.

(2) The percentage of dental students who pass their final examination after not more than 4 years of study.

(3) A statement as to the numbers of dental students taking their instruction in dental mechanics (a) at a dental school, (b) as a pupil of a registered dentist.

(4) Statistics contrasting the percentage of successes in dental mechanics at the 1st professional examination according as to whether the student undertook his training at a dental school or with a private practitioner.

(5) Any information that may be available as to the number of students who after commencing their professional training at a dental school do not seek to qualify for registration under the Dentists Act 1878 but leave the school to practise as unregistered practitioners.

The statistics should if possible be given from 1900 or for as long a period as is available.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient Servant,
F. H. O. JERRAM,
Secretary.

THE SECRETARY,
Dental Licensing Body,
Royal College of Surgeons of England.

REPLY TO LETTER FROM DENTISTS ACT COMMITTEE.

The answers are numbered so as to correspond with the numbers of the questions asked.

1. The standard of the Preliminary Examination now required for the Medical and Dental Professions is considered to be that which should be attained by any boy of moderate ability educated at a Secondary School up to the age of 16, and it is held that such a standard at least is necessary if the boy is to study intelligently the professional subjects of his future career.

The new regulations relating to the Preliminary Examination, adopted by the Conjoint Examining Board of the Royal Colleges for medical students and by the Royal College of Surgeons for dental students also, admit of a larger choice of subjects than has been allowed in the past. This enlarged choice of subjects, together with the omission of Latin from the compulsory subjects, should render the examination more accessible to would-be dental students, especially to those who are studying on the modern side of a Secondary School.

It is thought therefore that the present standard of Preliminary Examination should be maintained, and, provided that a similar standard is required in the first school examination proposed by the Board of Education, there would seem to be no reason why that examination, when established, should not be accepted as entitling the student to commence his professional studies.

2. A reduction in the length of the course of professional study is not in itself desirable, and should only be resorted to if no other way can be found of ensuring a sufficient supply of dentists to meet the requirements of the community. It is thought by many members of the Dental Profession that this end could be gained by legislation to prevent unqualified practice, after provision for placing on the Dentists' Register certain classes of unqualified persons at present engaged in the practice of dentistry.

I. (a) Under the regulations of the Royal College of Surgeons of England the course of instruction in Chemistry and Physics, if taken after the passing of the Preliminary Examination in General Education, is counted as part of the four years of professional study, but, if any reduction is to be made in the length of the course of professional study, it is regarded as essential that instruction in Chemistry and Physics should be excluded from the professional course.

Under the present regulations the required course of instruction in Chemistry and Physics, including laboratory work, can be taken by the student at any one of a number of Science Institutions or Secondary Schools recognised for the purpose, and the restriction that the instruction must be taken at a recognised Institution or School might be removed in the event of Chemistry and Physics being excluded from the professional course.

(b) The College would be prepared to recognise the possession of a first or second school examination certificate, including a pass in Science, in lieu of its present examination in Chemistry and Physics, provided that the scope and standard of the tests for these certificates are uniformly equivalent to the test of its own examination.

II. The College is of opinion, as shown in its recent report to the General Medical Council, that the time devoted to the more general medical courses can be better spent by a re-arrangement and curtailment of such general courses, with the further advantages that it will in consequence be possible to devote more time to the dental subjects, that the facilities for the average student to become qualified within the minimum period will be increased, and that the cost of training will be diminished.

III. If the four years' curriculum is maintained, the College is not prepared to recommend the abolition of private pupilage, but, in the event of the curriculum being reduced to three years, it is considered essential that the whole period of three years should be spent at a recognised Dental Hospital and School after the student has passed the Examination in Chemistry and Physics, and this would involve the requirement that instruction and training in Dental Mechanics should only be permitted in a Dental School, and that private pupilage should be abolished.

IV. In view of the opinion held almost unanimously by the Licensing Bodies, as shown in their replies to the enquiries of the General Medical Council, that the period of four years' study cannot be curtailed without lowering the standard of dental practice, the College strongly urges that the course of study should not be shortened and that there should be no relaxation in the stringency of the professional examination.

If, however, it is decided by the Government that prohibition of unqualified practice be not granted unless some concession of this kind is made, the College, in order to secure to the community the great advantages which would result from such prohibition, would be prepared to grant its Licence on the modified course of study and examination hereafter described.

The College is of opinion that sufficient uniformity in the standard of examination can be secured by maintaining the present system of inspection by the General Medical Council.

V. If registrable diplomas or licences, entitling the holder to be put on the Dentists' Register and to practise dentistry, are granted after a shortened curriculum, it would be desirable that these licentiates should have facilities for obtaining higher degrees or diplomas.

Scheme for a three years' course of professional study and examination to be commenced after the Examination in Chemistry and Physics has been passed.

FURTHER REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE COLLEGE.

THE Committee would remind the Council that it was originally appointed on the 26th July, 1917, to consider the nature of the evidence which might be given on behalf of the College, if consulted in regard to the questions referred to the consideration of the Dentists Act Committee. With reference to these instructions the Committee begs to report that, in addition to meetings for the consideration of the letter, dated 26th November, 1917, from the Dentists Act Committee, several meetings had previously been held to consider more particularly paragraph No. 2 in the terms of reference to that Committee, viz. :—

> 2. The expediency of legislation prohibiting in the United Kingdom the practice of dentistry and dental surgery by unqualified persons; and, in the event of such legislation being deemed expedient, the conditions under which certain classes of unqualified persons at present engaged in the practice of dentistry might be permitted to continue in practice by the institution of a special roll for the purpose.

Conferences were held with Mr. J. F. Colyer, Mr. Montagu F. Hopson, and Mr. Norman G. Bennett, members of the Board of Examiners in Dental Surgery, Mr. Sidney Spokes, Dean of University College Hospital Dental School, Professor William Wright, Dean of the London Hospital Dental School, and Professor M. S. Pembrey, Acting Dean of Guy's Hospital Dental School, who attended some of the meetings and expressed their views.

In agreement with those whom it has consulted, the Committee has formed the following conclusions :—

1. It is expedient that there shall be legislation prohibiting in the United Kingdom the practice of dentistry and dental surgery by unqualified persons, so as to provide that no unqualified person or combination of unqualified persons in the form of a company shall be allowed to practice dentistry "habitually and for gain."

2. In order to facilitate such legislation, it is expedient that certain classes of unqualified persons at present engaged in the practice of dentistry, who are British subjects and were British subjects before the 4th August, 1914, should be admitted to a Dentists' Register.

3. The unqualified persons, being British subjects, to be so admitted to a Dentists' Register should be:—

To be admitted without examination:

a. Members of certain approved Societies.

b. Whole time practitioners, who, at the passing of the Act, shall have been bona fide engaged in the practice of dentistry for a period of not less than five years.

To be admitted after passing a modified examination:

a. Whole time practitioners who, at the passing of the Act, shall have been bona fide engaged in the practice of dentistry for a period under five years and over twelve months, after attaining the age of 21 years.

b. Dental Mechanics, on conditions to be determined afterwards.

4. This mode of admission to the Register should be kept open:—

a. For a period of one year from the passing of the Act for those to be admitted without examination.

b. For a period of two years from the passing of the Act for those to be admitted on passing a modified examination, with a further extension of one year for those who, having presented themselves for, fail to pass the required examination within the two years.

5. There should be one Dentists' Register divided into two parts:—

Part I. to be a Register of Dental Surgeons, consisting, as at present, of those holding Dental Degrees and Diplomas, and those "in practice before 1878."

Part II. consisting of "Registered Dentists," who shall not be allowed to use descriptive letters after their names in relation to their practice, or to use the terms dental surgeon or dental surgery in connection with their practice.

Representation to Dentists Act Committee.

Mr. H. J. Waring, Member of the Council, and Mr. Frederic G. Hallett, Director of Examinations, attended before the Dentists

Act Committee at the Privy Council Office on the 17th April, 1918, and gave evidence as the Representatives of the College in support of the views set forth by the Council in the foregoing documents.

IV. Central Midwives Board.

The following Report on the proceedings of the Central Midwives Board during the year 1917 has been received from Dr. W. S. A. Griffith :—

Mr. President and Gentlemen,

During the year 1917 there have been twenty meetings of the Board; all of these meetings, since I have had the honour of representing the College, I have attended.

The work of the Board continues on the same lines as those so admirably reported by Mr. Golding Bird in past years, whose presence and share in its work were so highly appreciated by his colleagues.

The number of penal cases tried was 81, with the result that 57 persons were struck off the Roll, 22 were cautioned, censured, and afforded an opportunity to amend their practice and prove themselves capable and determined to conform to the rules of the Board.

This method of proceeding is found to be effectual for reclaiming many of the careless and disobedient women when the supervision of the local authority is carried out by energetic and competent officials.

In addition to those struck off, 130 midwives have resigned chiefly on the ground of old age and ill-health.

During the year, 1384 candidates passed the examinations of the Board, and were added to the Roll. The total number of midwives on the Roll, December 31st 1917, was about 42,700.

Ireland now has her much-needed Midwives Act, which came into force in February of this year, and her Board is in course of formation. The Irish, like the Scotch Act, is founded on the English Act, modified by certain local conditions, and by the experience gained by the working of the English Act. This Board earnestly hopes that some of the improvements which the Scotch and Irish Acts contain may be accepted by Parliament, in an amending Bill which has been for some time under consideration.

Should the Council desire further details of the work of the Board during the past year, I shall be happy to submit them, but it may be their desire to restrict as far as possible such reports at the present time.

I have the honour to be, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

WALTER S. A. GRIFFITH,

V. Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members.

At the meeting of the Council in December the senior Vice-President reported that he had attended in the theatre of the College at 3 o'clock P.M. on Thursday, the 15th November, 1917, the day and hour appointed for the Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members, and that, the required quorum of 30 not being present, he had declared, after the expiration of 15 minutes, that the meeting could not be held.

It has been decided by the Council not to issue a Report to the Fellows and Members for the year 1917–1918, and that the Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members, usually convened in November, should not be held this year.

VI. Removal of Members.

The name of Reginald Nitch Smith, who obtained his Diploma in 1894, has been removed from the list of Members of the College, under Clause 2, Section XVI. of the Bye-Laws, having previously been erased from the Medical Register by order of the General Medical Council upon the grounds stated in the following charge :—

> "That being a registered medical practitioner you abused your position :
> "(1) By selling to Mrs. Deborah Platt at exorbitant prices, at frequent intervals, and otherwise than as a medicine in the course of your treatment of her, large quantities of a narcotic toxicant drug named heroin, and knowing that she had formed the drug habit continued so to supply her to her moral and physical detriment :
> "(2) By selling to the said Mrs. Deborah Platt the said drug at exorbitant prices and at frequent intervals for an officer and men, members of His Majesty's Forces, contrary to Regulation 40 of the Defence of the Realm Regulations, and of the Order of the Army Council, dated May 11, 1916.
> "And that in relation thereto you have been guilty of infamous conduct in a professional respect."

The name of Bertie Cecil Eskell, who obtained his Diploma in 1910, has been removed from the list of Members of the College under Clause 2, Section XVI. of the Bye-Laws, having previously been erased from the Medical Register by order of the General Medical Council upon the grounds stated in the following charge :—

> "That being a registered medical practitioner you abused your position by committing adultery with Mrs. Kathleen Margaret Dobson Mercer Adam, with whom and whose husband you stood in professional relationship.
> "And that in relation thereto you have been guilty of infamous conduct in a professional respect."

The name of Arthur Edward Gladstone, who obtained his Diploma in 1898, has been removed from the list of Members of the College under Clause 2, Section XVI. of the Bye-Laws, having previously been erased from the Medical Register by order of the General Medical Council upon the grounds stated in the following charge:—

> "That being a registered medical practitioner you abused your position by committing adultery and eloping with Mrs. Margaret Frances Haye, whom and whose husband and family you had attended professionally, subsequent to which you were co-respondent in the case of Haye v. Haye and Gladstone in the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division (Divorce) of the High Court of Justice, in which proceedings a decree of divorce was pronounced on April 10, 1916, and made absolute on October 16, 1916.
> "And that in relation thereto you have been guilty of infamous conduct in a professional respect."

VII. Lectures.

The following lectures have been delivered during the year:—

Bradshaw Lecture.

Sir John Bland-Sutton	On Misplaced and Missing Organs.

Hunterian Lectures.

Prof. Arthur Keith	Six lectures on the anatomical and physiological principles underlying the treatment of injuries to muscles, joints, and bones.
Prof. J. Hutchinson	One lecture on the surgical treatment of trigeminal neuralgia.
Prof. Percival P. Cole......	One lecture on the incidence, causation, and treatment of non-union of war fractures of the mandible.
Prof. Hildred Carlill	One lecture on the diagnosis and treatment of syphilis of the central nervous system.

Prof. E. K. Martin	Two lectures on projectile fracture of limb bones.
Prof. W. T. Lister	One lecture on the pathological aspect of certain war injuries of the eye.

Arris and Gale Lectures.

Prof. William Wright	Two lectures on the 'Quaderni d'Anatomia' by Leonardo da Vinci.
Prof. F. G. Parsons	One lecture on the English skull.

VIII. John Tomes Prize.

The John Tomes Prize for the period 1915–17 has been awarded to Mr. Joseph George Turner, Fellow and Licentiate in Dental Surgery of the College, for his work on the subject of Dental Pathology.

The Prize is awarded triennially, and consists of the dividends accruing from the John Tomes Fund during the triennial period, viz.: £30 6*s.* 4*d.* This is the seventh award of the Prize.

IX. Begley Studentship.

At the meeting of the Council in February it was decided that the Begley Studentship, which was instituted in 1905 before the enactment of Bye-Laws admitting women to examination for the Diplomas of the College, should be thrown open to women students as well as to men.

At the meeting of the Council in April, in pursuance of a report from the Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology on the result of the second examination of the Conjoint Board in England, concluded on the 9th April, 1918, Miss Edith Marjorie Rooke, a student of the London School of Medicine for Women, was appointed Begley Student for the ensuing three years.

A sum of £20 is payable yearly to the student.

X. Restorations.

Mr. Alfred Banks, who was removed from being a Fellow and Member of the College in July 1917, after the erasure of his name from the Medical Register in consequence of an offence of a professional nature, has been restored to the Fellowship and Membership.

Mr. Edmund Lyall Haynes, who was removed from being a Member of the College in January 1916 after the erasure of his name from the Medical Register in consequence of his conviction of certain misdemeanours, has been restored to the Membership.

Capt. William Dutton Akers, S.A.M.C., who was removed from being a Member of the College in January 1912 after the erasure of his name from the Medical Register in consequence of an offence of a professional nature, has also been restored to the Membership.

XI. Finance.

INCOME.

The gross income of the College, exclusive of the income from Trust Funds, amounts to £20,758, and is £304 less than in the previous year.

The examination and diploma fees for the Membership remain at a satisfactory figure, a small decrease of £98 under this head and of £50 in the fees for the Diploma in Public Health being more than compensated for by an increase of £159 under incidental receipts of the Conjoint Examining Board.

The fees for the Fellowship remain at approximately the same figure as in the last year, but in the fees for the Licence in Dental Surgery there is again a decrease, amounting this year to £491.

As in the previous year the gross rents from House Property amount to £1,160, and the net rents, after deduction of Property Tax, to £895.

The receipts from investments under General Funds and the Erasmus Wilson Bequest are £164 higher, as shown in the printed statement of accounts, but if the outstanding amounts payable for Income Tax on dividends not taxed by deduction are taken into account, a decrease of £214 in net income will be found.

EXPENDITURE.

The total expenditure under the Revenue Account amounts to £18,386, and is £605 higher than in the previous year.

In the expenditure of the Conjoint Examining Board apportioned to this College there is an increase of £256. There is nothing under this head to call for special comment.

The cost of the Fellowship Examinations remains approximately the same as in the previous year, but in the cost of the Examinations for the Licence in Dental Surgery there is a decrease of £220.

The total amount of the General Working Expenses is only £29 more than in the previous year. Under Fees to Council, Salaries and Wages, Pensions, and Repairs there are decreases of 28 Guineas, £68, £50, and £296 respectively, but the total under Rates, Taxes, and Insurance is £417 higher, mainly owing to additional Corporation Duty (£95), additional deferred Income Tax (£228), and the inclusion of a sum of £69 for fire insurance.

The special expenses of the Museum are £92 higher, less having been spent on specimens and appliances and more on salaries and wages.

The special expenses of the Library amount to £1,521, and are £398 higher than in the previous year. This increase is due to the payment of £391 to H.M. Stationery Office for German journals supplied since the outbreak of the War. In the four years before the War the average expenditure on the Library amounted to £1,717, and for the last four years the average has been £1,322.

The extraordinary expenditure amounts this time to £798, and, with the exception of £135 for special grants, consists of expenditure in connexion with the War.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The balance on the Revenue Account amounts to £2,371, and is £909 less than the balance of last year. As regards the current year, the addition of 1*s*. in the £ to the Income Tax will reduce the net income of the College by about £520, and a further reduction of £145 will be caused by the main portion of the Erasmus Wilson Bequest becoming liable to a full year's assessment to Corporation Duty. Against this further taxation there will be a small set-off in the form of income from additional investments; but, even supposing the receipts from the Conjoint Examining to remain near the present figure, it is evident that a considerable drop in the revenue for the ensuing year must be anticipated.

THE MUSEUM.

The Hunterian Collection, which forms the basis, and still a large proportion, of the contents of the present Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, was originally arranged in a building which its Founder, John Hunter, erected for it in 1784, behind his house in Leicester Square.

John Hunter died October 16th, 1793, aged 65. By his will he directed the Museum to be offered in the first instance to the British Government, on such terms as might be considered reasonable, and in case of refusal to be sold in one lot, either to some foreign state, or as his executors might think proper.

In the year 1799 Parliament voted the sum of £15,000 for the Museum, and an offer of it being made to the Corporation of Surgeons, it was accepted on the terms proposed by Government*.

In 1806 the sum of £15,000 was voted by Parliament in aid of the erection of an edifice for the display and arrangement of the Hunterian Collection; a second grant of £12,500 was subsequently voted, and upwards of £21,000 having been supplied from the funds of the College, the building was completed in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, in which the Museum was opened for the inspection of visitors in the year 1813.

In consequence of the large number of additions, this building became too small for the adequate display and arrangement of its contents; and more space being at the same time required for the rapidly increasing Library, the greater portion of the present building was erected, wholly at the expense of the College, in 1835, at a cost of about £40,000, and the Hunterian and Collegiate Collections were rearranged in what are now termed Rooms Nos. III. and IV., which were opened for the inspection of visitors in 1836.

* The following are the Terms and Conditions on which the Hunterian Collection, purchased by Parliament, was delivered to the late Corporation of Surgeons; which Corporation having become dissolved, the Members thereof were re-incorporated by Charter, dated the 22nd day of March, 1800, under the Title of The Royal College of Surgeons in London:—

1st. The Collection shall be open Four Hours in the Forenoon of two days every week for Inspection and Consultation of the Fellows of the College of Physicians, the Members of the Company of Surgeons and Persons properly introduced by them; a Catalogue of the Preparations, and a proper Person to explain it, being at those times always in the Room.

† 2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twenty-four in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by the preparations, shall be given every year by some Member of the Company.

3rd. That the Preparations shall be kept in a state of Preservation, and the Collection in as perfect a state as possible, at the Expense of the Corporation of Surgeons, subject to the annual Inspection and Superintendence of the Trustees.

4th. That there shall be a Board of Trustees, to consist of sixteen (increased to seventeen by the Lords of the Treasury in 1856) Members, by virtue of their Public Offices, and of fourteen others, to be appointed, in the first instance, by the Lords of the Treasury, and afterwards to be elected, as Vacancies may happen, by a Majority of the remaining Trustees.

5th. That the Museum shall always be open for the Inspection of all or any of the said Trustees, who are to take care that the Corporation of Surgeons perform their Engagements respecting the said Collection. That a day be appointed for the annual Inspection of the Museum, by the Trustees acting collectively as a Board; and that they are also to have quarterly Meetings, for the transacting of any Business relative to the Museum, and for the filling up of such Vacancies as may happen in the number of the Trustees; and that the Corporation of Surgeons shall engage some person to officiate as Secretary to the Board upon such occasions, and to issue previous Notice to the Members, in which he is to state particularly whether any Vacancies are to be filled up by new Elections.

† This Clause was altered by the Lords of the Treasury in 1894, to the following, viz.:—

2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twelve in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by preparations from the Hunterian Collection and the other contents of the Museum, shall be given every year by Fellows or Members of the College.

Further enlargement of the building having become necessary by the continued increase of the Collection, the College, in 1847, purchased the extensive premises of Mr. Alderman Copeland, in Portugal Street, for the sum of £16,000, and in 1852 proceeded to the erection of Room No. V., at the expense of £25,000, Parliament granting £15,000 in aid thereof. The rearrangement of the specimens was completed, and the additional portion of the building opened to visitors in 1855. The Collection still continuing to increase and more space having again become necessary, the College in 1888 determined to erect, at a cost of £19,000, two new Museums on the western side of the old structure. These buildings, called Rooms Nos. I. and II., were completed in 1891. Besides giving greater accommodation for the Collection in general they have also provided space for the display of photographs and drawings illustrating Diseases.

The Hunterian Collection was estimated to consist of 13,682 specimens, distributed under the following heads:—

Physiological Department, or Normal Structures.

Physiological preparations in spirit	3745
Osteological preparations	965
Dry do.	617
Zoological do.	1968
Fossils:—
Vertebrate	1215
Invertebrate	2202
Plants	292

Pathological Department, or Abnormal Structures.

Preparations in spirit	1084
Dry preparations (including bones)	625
Calculi and concretions	536
Monsters and Malformations	218
Microscopic preparations	215

Of the additions by which the size and value of the Collection have been so materially increased since it came into the possession of the College, very many have been presented by Fellows and Members of the College, and other persons interested in scientific pursuits. Among the largest contributions from this source have been the Collection, consisting of 847 specimens, presented in 1811 by Sir William Blizard; a valuable series of Pathological specimens presented in 1851 by Sir Stephen L. Hammick; and a Collection, presented in 1905 by Lt.-Colonel Sir Richard Havelock Charles, I.M.S., K.C.V.O., consisting of 248 skulls, and other specimens, representative of many of the Castes and Tribes of India. At the same time the Council of the College have availed themselves of various opportunities as they have occurred to purchase specimens of interest, especially at the dispersion of private anatomical and pathological museums, as that of Sir A. Lever in 1806, of Mr. Joshua Brookes in 1828, of Mr. Heaviside in 1829, Mr. Langstaff in 1835, Mr. South in the same year, Mr. Howship and Mr. Taunton in 1841, Mr. Liston in 1842, Mr. Walker in 1843, and, deserving of especial mention on account of the great number and value of the specimens acquired, those of Sir Astley Cooper in 1843 and Dr. Barnard Davis in 1880.

The Histological Collection, of which the 215 Hunterian specimens (prepared by Hewson) constitute the nucleus, was chiefly formed by the late Professor Quekett, with considerable additions by purchase from Dr. Tweedy J. Todd, Mr. Nasmyth, and Professor Lenhossek. It now contains upwards of 12,000 specimens, all arranged and catalogued so as to be readily available for reference.

In 1909 the Collection of the Odontological Section of the Royal Society of Medicine, consisting of about 5000 specimens, was transferred to the College under a Deed of Trust, and is now arranged with the other odontological specimens belonging to the College in a room specially prepared for its reception under Room II. of the Museum.

The superintendence of the Museum is confided by the Council of the College to a Committee of its Members, which Committee has held four meetings during the past year.

A summary of the progress made in the preservation, arrangement, and augmentation of the Collection will be found in the following Report.

CONSERVATOR'S REPORT.

In preceding reports an account has been given of the "War Office Collection" now lodged in the work-rooms and Museum of the College. At the date of issue of the last Annual Report 1500 specimens, collected and dispatched by officers of the Army Medical Service Corps—had been received, stored, and registered by members of the Museum Staff. In that report mention was made of a proposal to place on exhibition in the Museum a series of representative specimens selected from the collections stored in the work-rooms. The series of specimens assembled in the Hall of the Museum by Prof. Shattock and Mr. Beadles formed an excellent nucleus for such an exhibition. The scheme was supported by the Director-Generals of the Army Medical Service and sanctioned by the Council of the College. Prof. S. G. Shattock, F.R.S., Pathological Curator, and Mr. Cecil Beadles, Assistant Pathological Curator, undertook the investigation, preparation, and description of the specimens which illustrate the nature, healing and pathology of wounds produced under modern conditions of warfare; the description and arrangement of macerated specimens was supervised by the Conservator, while the task of exhibiting the collection of radiographs and drawings fell to the Physiological Curator, Mr. R. H. Burne. Exhibits were also forwarded by special military hospitals and individual surgeons. On October 11, 1917, the Exhibition was opened by Sir Alfred Keogh, G.C.B., then Director General of the Army Medical Service. The exhibition occupied three of the largest rooms of the Museum—Room I. being devoted to macerated specimens, Room II. to the pathological collection, and Room III. to special exhibits. An account of the specimens, as they were arranged at the opening of the exhibition will be found in the "Guide" prepared for that occasion and since reprinted for the use of visitors.

Since the date at which the exhibition was opened a number of changes have been affected. Many additions have been made and are being made to all sections. Some of the special exhibits have been withdrawn and replaced by others. Special mention must be made of a large "Canadian Section"—prepared by members of the Canadian Army Medical Corps. The Canadian Government has placed a special fund at the disposal of the Director of its Medical Service for the preparation of specimens "to illustrate the modes of treatment adopted and the nature of the results obtained" in special hospitals staffed by members of the Canadian Medical Corps. A staff of experts, with Major F. Lessore, the distinguished sculptor, at their head, have been engaged at No. 16 Canadian Military Hospital, making wax and plaster models, coloured drawings and coloured photographs of wounds and war deformities. It is the collection thus prepared which forms the basis of the growing Canadian Section now exhibited in the Museum of the College. It is hoped that Australian and New Zealand Sections will also be added, for the Medical Services attached to the Armies of all the self-governing countries are contributing specimens to the "War Office" Collection with the view of building up army medical museums for their respective countries. Consignments of Canadian specimens have already been dispatched from the work-rooms of the Museum to Montreal, while the Director-General of the Australian Medical Corps has given the Museum Staff effective assistance in dealing with specimens received from Australian Hospitals. It will be thus seen that the Council of the College, through its Museum Staff, is rendering a service to military surgery and medicine. The total number of specimens received at the date of writing is 2700, but large as that number may appear, there are still deficiencies to be made good, blanks and deficiences which will become apparent to those who study the excellent specimens now on exhibition.

Protection of the Museum Collection.—The steps taken to safeguard the contents of the Museum have been described in former reports. At the date when the Conservator's last report was written it was apparent that our air defence had made Zeppelin raids difficult and dangerous for the enemy, but it was equally apparent that the danger from aeroplane raids had increased. The first aeroplane raid occurred on the night of June 13th, 1917, and since then there have been 18 others, with one Zeppelin raid. So far the Museum and its contents have suffered no damage. The specimens in the vaults remain in good condition.

Catalogue of the Collection of Surgical Instruments.—During the past eight years Mr. Alban Doran has been engaged in the preparation of a new descriptive catalogue of the instruments contained in the College Collection. The point he has now reached in this laborious undertaking will be seen from the following statement:—

A Descriptive Catalogue of the OBSTETRICAL INSTRUMENTS in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. Including all forceps, &c. belonging to the Loan Collection from the Royal Society of Medicine, formerly constituting the Museum of the Obstetrical Society of London—with Copy of Agreement entered into between the Royal Society of Medicine and the Royal College of Surgeons. 1913.

A Descriptive Catalogue of GYNÆCOLOGICAL INSTRUMENTS in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons. Including instruments belonging to the Loan Collection from the Royal Society of Medicine formerly included in the Museum of the Obstetrical Society of London. 1915.

A Descriptive Catalogue of the SURGICAL INSTRUMENTS FORMERLY THE PROPERTY OF LORD LISTER, in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons. Vol. I.

Group I. Instruments designed by, or closely associated with, Lord Lister. Vol. II. Group II. Instruments not specially associated with Lord Lister, but more or less freely made use of by him in his practice; Group III. Instruments once in Lord Lister's possession, but rarely or never employed by him in his practice. 1916.

Complete, but not Descriptive, Catalogue, or List, of Surgical and other Instruments in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons. Type-written from the manuscript catalogue compiled by Mr. Walter Pye in 1878, with additions up to 1916, and corrections.

Descriptive Catalogue of the Surgical Instruments contained in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons. INSTRUMENTS ONCE THE PROPERTY OF JOHN HUNTER AND OTHER HUNTERIAN RELICS. (This is the only catalogue here noted that has been printed and published.)

A Descriptive Catalogue of Surgical Instruments in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. Part I. DRESSING AND GENERAL INSTRUMENTS.

A Descriptive Catalogue, &c., Section G: INSTRUMENTS FOR OPERATIONS ON THE GENITO-URINARY SYSTEM IN THE MALE. Still in manuscript, the compiler having finished this section in May 1918—all the above, besides the printed "Hunterian Relics," have been type-written.

The following Sections are not yet supplied with a Descriptive Catalogue:—

A. Operations on Eye.—B. Ear.—C. Nose and Antrum.—D. Mouth and Pharynx.—E. Thorax and Respiratory Organs.—F. Abdominal Walls and Alimentary Canal.—I. Extremities (amputations, &c.).—K. Osseous System.—L. Vascular System.—M. Orthoplastic and Orthopædic Instruments.—N. Extraction of Bullets.—O. Miscellaneous Philosophical apparatus applied to the investigation and treatment of disease.—P. Splints, Trusses, Operation Tables, Beds, Mattresses, Chairs, Cradles, Rests, &c.—Q. Post-mortem, Dissection, and Embalming Instruments.—R. Surgical Instruments used by Semi-civilized and Barbarous Nations.—S. Appliances for Replacement of Lost Parts.—T. Instruments used in Auscultation and Percussion.

Also, Fac-simile models of various Medical and Surgical instruments from Pompeii.

Report on the Pathological Department.

The chief work since the last Report has been the further selection and preparation of specimens from the seat of war in France. Of each of these a concise description has been drawn up, together with the history from notes furnished by the senders of the specimens. These descriptions have been typed, mounted on cards, and placed by the side of the preparations.

Since the last Report, the Collection has been moved from the Vestibule of the Museum into Room II., on the ground-floor of which it is now displayed. The specimens have been arranged in the following series:—

Skin, Lung, Heart, Blood-vessels, Intestine, Stomach, Kidney, Spleen, Larynx, Bladder, Spine, Joints, Examples of Surgical Operations, Effects of Gassing, Trench Nephritis, Gas gangrene.

The additions include a group illustrating the results of dichlorethyl-sulphide upon the air-passages and lungs ("Mustard gas)"; and portions of three Brains from cases of shell-shock, showing small hæmorrhages in various positions; these were prepared under the direction of Prof. F. W. Mott, F.R.S., and were received from him for exhibition.

Printed notices drawing attention to the Collection have been sent to all the Medical Schools, &c., of the Metropolis.

Owing to the depletion of the working staff, the sealing down of most of the specimens has been carried out at St. Thomas's Hospital by the Museum Assistant attached to the Medical School.

Additions to the Pathological Collection.

A fair number of additions to the proper Collection of the College have been received, in spite of the adverse circumstances arising out of the War.

These have been fully described and mounted.

Amongst these may be mentioned: The macerated bones from a case of Mikulicz's operation performed by Sir William MacCormac, the limb being afterwards amputated by Sir John Bland-Sutton, by whom it was presented.

And by the same donor, a large neuroma removed by operation from the Mesentery.

Bone-grafting from the tibia to the radius for fracture accompanied with loss of substance, by Surgeon Lawson, R.N.

A Kidney containing a huge amount of calculi, accompanied with the growth of Carcinoma, by Mr. G. Grey Turner.

Specimens of Liver and Kidney from a case of "Doping" (poisoning by tetrachlorethene) presented by Mr. H. S. Beadles.

Liver from a case of Trinitrotoluene poisoning, by the London Hospital.

Calcified tumours of the scrotum, by St. Thomas's Hospital.

Sarcoma of the breast, which has undergone a remarkable degree of fatty degeneration, the fat being stained by the use of Sudan III., by Prof. S. G. Shattock.

Preparations showing the mechanism of fracture of the skull-cap in punctured wounds, by Prof. S. G. Shattock.

Report on the Physiological Department.

The specimens of the physiological series are still stored for safety in the basement of the College. They have been examined in detail and appear to have suffered very little serious injury considering the conditions under which they are placed. Work in this department has been chiefly confined to mounting and describing the dried preparations in the Museum and to revision of the Catalogues. A Zoological Index of the specimens in this series has been completed which should be of help to those who wish to study the collection from a morphological point of view.

A number of specimens prepared by the transparency method of Dr. Spalteholz have been deposited in the Museum by the Board of Trade Controller for the Odol Company.

THE LIBRARY.

The Library of the College dates from the year 1800, in July of which year the first grant of a sum not exceeding £50 was made for Library purposes. It had been the intention of the old Corporation of Surgeons to form a Library, but they failed to carry their intention into effect. In its early years the Library was considerably increased by presentations and bequests of books—the principal donors being Dr. Baillie, Sir Everard Home, Sir Charles Blicke, the widow of Mr. Sharp, Sir Ludford Harvey, Dr. Fleming, Mr. Cotton, and Mr. Long. The Court of Assistants also directed from time to time the expenditure of small sums of money for the purchase of books. Sir Charles Blicke, in the year 1816, invested the sum of £300, the proceeds of which were to be devoted to the same object. By these means extensive purchases were from time to time made from the libraries of Mr. Pitt, Mr. St. André, Sir Anthony Carlisle, and others. The progress of the Library, however, for the first twenty-six years of its existence was very slow, but in 1827 great efforts were made to put it in a thoroughly good condition ; in that and the two subsequent years the sum of £5269 was spent in the purchase of books, and in 1829 the first Librarian was appointed. The College was practically rebuilt by Sir Charles Barry in 1835–36, and during that period the Library was closed, the books being packed in cases and stored in the Museum Gallery. On the 15th of February, 1837, the Library was re-opened, the rooms in the new building allotted to this department being the Reading-Room and the Librarian's Room. From this date until 1888 very little extra accommodation had been provided for the Library, a small Committee-Room had been fitted up with shelves and room made for a few books under the Theatre.

The munificent gift of Sir Erasmus Wilson enabled the Council in 1888 very materially to increase the Library accommodation, and at the same time to improve and re-decorate the existing building. The residence of the Conservator of the Museum at the east end of the College was pulled down, and the building erected on its site was devoted to Library purposes. On a level with the old Reading-Room an extension was built, the two rooms being connected by four archways, two on the ground and two in the Gallery. Beneath this a handsome Book-Room was provided, and below that a spacious Store-Room. The new building, as at present shelved, gives accommodation for 26,000 volumes. The Librarian's Room was considerably improved by throwing into it a loft above the old ceiling and a passage which led into the Reading-Room.

The whole of the Library premises were re-decorated, and the Electric Light was installed throughout. The heating apparatus, which was under the floor at the south side of the Library, was all removed, and in its place a coil of hot-water pipes was placed in each window. The gallery railing, being in an unsafe condition, was replaced by one of a stronger pattern.

This extension of the Library made it possible to re-arrange the books in such a way as to make them more accessible to readers. In the Gallery of the Extension stand the books on Anatomy, Physiology, Pathology, Medicine and Surgery ; round the Reading-Room are ranged sets of the Periodicals and Transactions in greatest demand. There is also a good collection of dictionaries, encyclopædias, systems and general books of reference, conveniently arranged for the use of readers.

The lower room contains books on Chemistry and Physics, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Forensic Medicine, Diseases of Women and Children, History of Medicine and Surgery, Biography and Bibliography. The basement is devoted to old sets of Journals and Transactions, a collection of Theses, and to miscellaneous books.

The Librarian's Room contains the books on Biology, and certain valuable works, including many Early Printed Books, which are kept in glass cases.

The current numbers of the Journals are displayed on tables down the middle of the Reading-Room: four of these are fitted with sliding trays, in which books too large for the wall-cases, and illustrated works still in progress, are kept. The new books are placed on a stand in the centre of the Room; these are catalogued directly they are received, and are at once available for readers. A list of the additions is posted in the Library.

The first Catalogue of the Library was issued in 1831. A classed Catalogue was prepared by Dr. Willis, and was in use in MS. for some years; in 1838 a synopsis of it was printed, and the work itself was published in 1843. In 1853 an index of subjects was issued, and four supplements to the Author Catalogue were published between the years 1840 and 1860. In 1890 a List of Transactions, Periodicals, and Memoirs in the Library was published. A new Catalogue of Authors and Subjects on cards has been completed; these are kept in cabinets at the west end of the Reading-Room, and are available for use by the readers. The cards can now be used as copy for the printers.

The Library is particularly rich in the Transactions of Societies, and in Periodicals relating not only to Medicine and Surgery, but also to the accessory sciences. The large illustrated works on Zoology, Anatomy, &c., are also well represented. There is a good and very large collection of Portraits of Members of the Medical Profession.

In December 1892 a Common Room for the use of Fellows and Members was opened in the Reading Room adjoining the Entrance Hall.

A new Store Room for books was fitted up in the basement in 1901, and in 1907 a new room with an annexe was added in proximity to the gallery of the large Library.

During the past year the supply of books and periodicals has been well kept up.

In the order of their arrival the Donations were as follows:—Various publications from the University of Sydney; "La Chirurgia degli Organi di Movimento," Volume I., Fasc. 3, from the author, Dottore v. Putti; "The Thyroid Gland in Health and Disease," from the author, Dr. Robert McGarrison; framed copy of the Menu of the College Centenary Dinner (1900), with autographs of Linley Sambourne, the artist, from Mr. MacAlister; a work in the Russian language, being Papers dedicated to Dr. W. Lloyd; "Sobre a Correlação de certos Indices Mandibulares com o Indice Cefálico," from the author, Señor Américo Pires de Lima; his Bradshaw Lecture (1917) on "Misplaced and Missing Organs," from Sir John Bland-Sutton; "Hospitaltidende," etc., from Dr. J. D. Rolleston; "Collected Papers from the H. K. Cushing Laboratory of Experimental Medicine," Vol. V., 1916-17, from the Director (Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio); "Sinhalese Materia Medica," from the author, Dr. John Attygalle; many Reprints of Papers and "Aspects of Death and Correlated Aspects of Life," Edit. 3, from the author, Dr. F. Parkes Weber; "The Analytical Mechanism of the Internal Ear. With an Appendix by Arthur Keith," from the author, Sir Thomas Wrightson, Bart.; "Tumors of the Nervus Acusticus and the Syndrome of the Cerebellopontile Angle," from the author, Prof. Harvey Cushing; "Year Book" and "Bulletin," from the Registrar of the American College of Surgeons; "Ileus Duplex," a Hunterian Lecture, March 8, 1915, from Mr. Sampson Handley; "Researches on Egyptian Bilharziosis," from Dr. Leiper; "Food in War Time," from the author, Mr. Graham Lusk; "Treatment of War Wounds, from the author, Dr. W. W. Keen; "Injuries to Nerves," from the author, T.Lieut.-Col. E. Farquhar Buzzard, R.A.M.C.; "Veterinary Diseases and the 'Vicious Circle,'" from the author, Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry; "St. Bartholomews' Hospital Reports," Vol. 50, from the Editors; "Two Addresses on War Psycho-Neuroses," from the author, Dr. Mott.

The following Donations and Acquisitions during the past year deserve special mention:—

From Sir John Tweedy:—Spurrell's "Modern Man and his Forerunners"; "Theophrastus Paracelsus," by Franz Strunz; Brass's "Atlas of Human Histology, 1897; Wilson Fox's "Atlas of the Pathological Anatomy of the Lungs," 1888 (the two last volumes, which are well-bound, being destined for the future College Donation to Louvain University); and 29 pamphlets of importance; from Sir Rickman Godlee, Bart., his "Life of Lord Lister," Edit. 1, 1917; from Sir Henry Morris a complete collection of his published pamphlets and papers, specially bound for the Library (with his book-plate); from Mr. Alban Doran his "Descriptive Catalogue of the Surgical Instruments contained in the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England: Instruments once the Property of John Hunter and other Hunterian Relics," published by Order of the Council, 1917; Whiteford's "Operating Theatre in Private Practice," 1912; and "Transactions of the Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons," Vol. IX., 1913; from Mr. D'Arcy Power his "In Memoriam: Sir Thomas Lauder Brunton, F.R.S., 1844–1916"; "Some Episodes in the History of the Hospital" (St. Bartholomew's); "John Halle and Sixteenth Century Consultations"; from T.Colonel Sir Robert Jones the Collected Works of the late Mr. H. Owen Thomas, M.R.C.S., of Liverpool; and from Mr. Foster Palmer, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., an extensive Collection consisting of Eighty-seven Volumes of "Transactions of the New Sydenham Society," and of old Medicine, Midwifery, and Surgery, etc.; "Epidemics: their Origin and Prevention" (by the Donor), and "A Plea for Early Operation in Cases of Undoubted Tubercle of the Lung" (by the same); "Medical Magazine," 1899–1913; "Proceedings of the Chelsea Clinical Society," Vol. IV.; Holmes's "System of Surgery," 5 vols. (well bound), and valuable framed engravings of portraits of Samuel Cooper, Sir Benjamin Brodie, Bransby Blake Cooper, Howship Dickinson, and the Anatomist Paletta.

A Hunter Document of interest, acquired by purchase for the Library, is a testimonial, dated "London, 24th of February, 1784," and written and signed by John Hunter. It is exactly transcribed as follows:—"This is to certify that having seen and conversed several times with Captain Peter Barbutt; and I have always found him clear and sound in his mind and judgement capable of discharging any of the civil offices of life, as witness my hand," etc. The testimonial was manifestly not revised by Hunter. Captain Barbutt has not been traced.

At the January Council, 1918, it was resolved, on the recommendation of the Library Committee, to add to the collection of photographs of distinguished Surgeons by systematic application for photographs to the following:—Honorary Fellows, Members of the Council, Fellows elected as Members of twenty years' standing, Members of the Court of Examiners, other Examiners, Lecturers, and Prizemen.

The following have already sent portraits of interest:—Major W. W. Keen, Hon.F.R.C.S., Sir John Bland-Sutton (engraving signed by Sir John Collier), Mr. Haslam, Mr. James Sherren, Mr. Burghard, and the President.

The College Collection of Portraits (engravings, etc.) was catalogued in MS. by Dr. Chatto, a former Librarian, and this Catalogue has during the past year been much added to by Messrs. Fusedale and Wood, who have done excellent work in finding portraits attached to biographies and obituary notices in scattered works, and have made references to the same in Dr. Chatto's MS.

The Librarian's work in connection with the Biographies of Fellows nears completion, and it is hoped will be reported on in the next Calendar.

It is a satisfaction to reflect that during the last twelve months the Library has been of national service, the Librarian, besides giving evidence before the Committee of Information in the House of Lords, having been several times consulted by Government Departments on questions connected with the War, in which the Library has been able to furnish information as to books or even the use of words. Several researches have been conducted in the Library on behalf of Government by Lord D'Abernon and others.

During the past year the Library has been open 278 days, and there has been a slight increase in the number of Readers, their number having been 5343. These are reminded that they should always enter their names in the book kept for the purpose in the Hall, as otherwise the Library attendance appears less than it actually is.

VICTOR G. PLARR,
August 1, 1918. Librarian.

2. The next award of the Prize shall be for the five years ending the 31st December, 1920.

4. The Prize shall be awarded by the Council on the recommendation of a Committee at the Quarterly Meeting of the Council in the April following the expiration of the quinquennial period. The Council shall not, however, award the Prize should they not consider any work deserving of it.

5. The Committee shall consist of five Members and shall be appointed by the Council not less than one year prior to the date of the award of the Prize. The Committee shall not of necessity be confined to Members of the Council.

6. The grounds upon which the Prize is awarded shall be made public at the time of the award.

7. The Prize shall be open to foreigners as well as to British subjects, and the Committee shall not be restricted in any way as to the selection of persons qualified to receive the Prize, with the exception that Members of the Council shall not be eligible.

NOTE.—It is not intended that Essays should be submitted in competition for this Prize, or that those who are anxious to obtain it should be called upon to submit their names as Candidates. It is hoped, however, that the knowledge of the reward which may be obtained, and the distinction which it will confer on its recipient, will prove an incentive to those who are occupied in the study of this disease.

John Tomes Prize.

1. The John Tomes Prize shall be awarded triennially.

2. The Prize shall consist of the amount of the interest accruing from the John Tomes Fund during the triennial period (about £30). A document, declaratory of the award, sealed with the College Seal, and signed by the President, shall be presented with the Prize.

4. The Prize shall be awarded for original or other scientific work, done either partially or wholly within the triennial period, on the subjects of Dental Surgery and Pathology, Dental Anatomy and Physiology (including Histology), or Dental Mechanics.

5. The Prize shall be awarded by the Council on the recommendation of a Committee at the Quarterly Meeting of the Council in the April following the expiration of the triennial period. The Council shall, however, withhold the Prize if, in the opinion of the Committee, no work within the prescribed time be of sufficient merit to justify its award, and in such case shall either invest the dividends to augment the capital of the Fund, or adjudge the Prize to the author of some original research, deserving recognition, in other than dental subjects, which may have been carried out by any person eligible for the Prize.

6. The Committee shall consist of five members, and shall be appointed by the Council not less than one year prior to the date of the award of the Prize. The Committee shall not of necessity be confined to Members of the Council.

7. No essays shall be submitted in competition for the Prize in the case of the next award, which shall be for the period ending the 31st December, 1920; but it shall be open to the Committee to recommend to the Council that essays should be called for before any subsequent award.

Cartwright Prize.

1. The Cartwright Prize will be awarded quinquennially, and the next award will be for the five years ending 31st December, 1920.

2. The Prize consists of a Medal executed in bronze and an honorarium of £85.

3. The subject for the essays to be submitted in competition for the Prize is "The treatment of injuries of the jaws, and the restoration by mechanical means of parts of the jaws lost as the result of injury or removed on account of disease."

4. Candidates for the Prize must be persons engaged in the study or practice of Dental Surgery and possessing qualifications capable of registration under the Medical Acts of the United Kingdom. (A Diploma or Licence in Dental Surgery without a Medical or Surgical Diploma or Degree will not be a sufficient qualification.)

5. The Prize will be awarded to the author of the best essay written in English upon the proposed subject, if such essay is considered of sufficient merit.

6. Every essay must have a motto or device and must be accompanied by a sealed paper containing the name and address of the author, and having on the outside a motto or device corresponding with the motto or device on the essay.

7. Each essay must be addressed to the Secretary of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and delivered at the College not later than 4 o'clock P.M. on the 31st December, 1920.

8. The manuscript Prize essay and every accompanying drawing and preparation will become the property of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

9. Every unapproved essay which is unclaimed at the expiration of twelve months from the date of its receipt will be returned, with any accompanying drawing and preparation, to the author thereof at the address given in the sealed envelope.

Begley Studentship.

1. The Begley Studentship shall consist of the dividends derived from the Begley Bequest, viz.: £20 per annum, and shall be tenable for three years, subject to the conditions hereinafter mentioned.

2. The Studentship shall be awarded in April 1921, and thereafter triennially, or at such time as any Studentship may become vacant.

3. The Studentship shall be open, on the occasion of the sixth award, to any Candidate admitted to the Second Examination of the Conjoint Examining Board in England held in March or April 1921.

4. The Studentship shall be awarded to the Candidate, if any, obtaining the highest number of marks in the Anatomical part of the Examination.

5. If two or more Candidates in the Anatomical part of the Examination shall obtain an equal number of marks, being with respect to the other Candidates the highest number of marks obtained by any Candidate, reference shall be made to the marks obtained by them respectively in the Physiological part of the Examination, and on the combined result the adjudication shall be made; and, if their marks shall still be equal, it shall be open to the two senior Examiners in Anatomy appointed by the Royal College of Surgeons to call upon such Candidates to present themselves for further examination, or to take such other steps as may enable them to adjudicate in the matter.

6. The examiners shall report their adjudication of the Studentship to the Council at the Meeting of the Council next succeeding the Examination.

7. The Stipend shall be paid yearly, and the Student shall receive the first instalment within three months after the award of the Studenship.

8. The Student shall be required, before payment of the second and third instalments respectively, to send to the Secretary of the Royal College of Surgeons of England a Certificate from the Dean of his Medical School to the effect that his conduct has been satisfactory and that he has been applying himself diligently to his studies, and should any Student fail to comply with this requirement he shall forfeit his Studentship and all future payments in respect thereof.

9. Words in these Regulations which import the masculine gender shall also import the feminine gender.

REGULATIONS OF THE COUNCIL RELATING TO MEETINGS OF FELLOWS AND MEMBERS.

1. A Meeting of Fellows and Members shall be summoned annually for the Thursday following the Ordinary Meeting of the Council in November, or for such other time as the Council may determine.

2. Other Meetings may be summoned, either with or without a requisition, at such times and for such objects as may by the Council be thought desirable.

3. Such requisition shall be signed by not less than 30 Fellows and Members, or Fellows or Members, and shall contain a statement of the object or objects for which the Meeting is requested.

4. At the Annual Meeting the Report of the Council shall be presented.
